COUNTY BAR TO FURNISH LEGAL AID FOR NEEDY

Organization of a legal aid program to provide such legal assistance as may be needed by indigent persons was announced today by the Adams County Bar Association.

Attorneys S. M. Raffensperger and John MacPhail have been named by the Bar Association as co-chairmen of the committee.

The Red Cross, public assistance and other welfare agencies will be notified of the existence of the committee in order to be able to advise the persons they are aiding in obtaining such legal aid as they may need.

The welfare agencies will refer persons needing legal assistance to Attorneys Raffensperger and MacPhail who in turn will provide such assistance as may be needed.

In announcing the program the Bar Association observed that the committee has been set up to assure that no one shall be denied legal assistance because of inability to pay attorneys' fees.

The committee will always consist of the two newest members of the Bar. As new members are admitted to the Bar they will become members of the legal aid committee and the oldest in service on the committee will be replaced.

U.S. Sabre Jets Down Two Red MIGs Deep In North Korea

SEOUL (AP)—American Sabre jet pilots, outnumbered 14 to 1, shot down two Red MIGs today over MIG Alley in far Northwest Korea, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

Allied fighter-bombers roared over North Korea and pounded frontline positions, a rail line and supply concentrations.

The Air Force said that during the past week its pilots shot down two MIGs, probably destroyed one and damaged three.

Three Allied planes were lost, but none were Sabres.

A propeller-driven Corsair fighter-bomber was shot down by ground fire, and a B26 light bomber and F80 Shooting Star jet were lost to other causes, presumably mechanical trouble.

One fight was near the Mundung Valley on the Eastern Front, another was northeast of the Punchbowl on the Eastern Front and the third was on the Western Front north of the Hook. The patrols reported killing 45 Reds.

W. W. EISENHART IS RE-ELECTED TO CHURCH POST

W. W. Eisenhart of Abbotstown was re-elected area chairman of the Abbotstown area of the Lutheran Church in America today by Paul I. Polkner, president of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Mr. Eisenhart is one of 1,400 members of the Movement supporting the stewardship program of the ULCA, largest of the Lutheran church bodies in the U. S. and Canada.

The aim of the Laymen's Movement is to inspire the members of the church to "practice their religion" and to raise the level of giving for the world-wide program of the ULCA. The work of these key laymen has been one of the major factors in the increase of giving from $27,000,000 to $57,000,000 for all purposes of the church in less than ten years.

Serve As Consultant

According to Mr. Polkner, Mr. Eisenhart will serve as a consultant in Christian stewardship for both pastors and laymen and also lead the men of his area in increasing membership in the Laymen's Movement. Most of the members are giving from $100 to $1,000 a year to support the stewardship program.

The ULCA's stewardship department is the only stewardship department in any church supported outside the regular church budget. Its media of promotion are Hollywood-produced motion pictures, printed materials, field work and workshops.

Larry Learns To Use New Legs As Donations Come In

Larry Kepner, who was born without legs nearly six years ago, is rapidly becoming adept in the use of his first pair of artificial full-length legs that are complete with the first pair of shoes Larry ever had.

He never wore shoes before because the first artificial legs he used for about two years were "stubbies" and had no feet.

But at the Kessler Institute in West Orange, N. J., last month he was fitted out and trained to use "regular" legs with knee joints and feet.

And today another contribution was announced to the rapidly growing fund being received by the Adams County Crippled Children's Society for Larry's assistance.

$250 Gift Announced
The Gettysburg Furniture Companies are the most recent donor. They have added $250 to the Larry Kepner fund that now has been given $1,360.

The society recently paid out about $900 to the Kessler Institute as the first cost of the new legs. Other bills will be coming and the new limbs for Larry—together with the weeks of training he received there—are expected to total close to $2,000.

Described by staff members at the Kessler Institute as "an amazing kid," Larry has been called the easiest trainee the institute has ever helped. Harold Potts, the physical therapist there, said: "He's more or less his own rehabilitator. It's just a matter of supervising."

The new legs bring Larry's height to two feet 10 inches, normal for his age and weight. During the early stages of his training with the new legs, the knee joints were locked to help him to learn balance on the new limbs that boosted his height by six inches. But he soon became so adept in their use that he is able to lock or unlock the joints at will.

Going To School In Fall

He'll be six this month and is expecting to enter the public schools here in the fall.

In about six months, he will return to the Kessler Institute to "grow" another inch when a block arrangement is fitted into his legs.

First thing on the schedule when he arrived home a few days ago from the Kessler Institute was "to put on my Hopalong Cassidy suit. With long pants."

Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kepner, Baltimore St. Both are employees of the Gettysburg Furniture companies.

Donations to the Kepner fund so far include the Upper Adams and Gettysburg Lions clubs and two individuals. Donations also have been voted by the American Legion, the local lodge of the Moose, the VFW and now the Furniture companies. Funds for the initial $900 payment were advanced by the Crippled Children's Society.

G. Henry Roth was named as secretary of the committee and Jesse E. Snyder was re-elected as treasurer. LeRoy Winebrenner was named as marshal for the parade.

Raymond Strohm was named as head of the parade invitations committee. A committee comprising Attorney Richard A. Brown, Attorney John MacPhail, John Hewitt and Secretary Roth was appointed to secure a speaker for the event.

"The Collected Works" embrace nine volumes, with an index to be published later as a tenth volume. They present 6,870 items of Lincoln writings, ranging from famous papers like the Gettysburg Address and the Second Inaugural to terse endorsements of three or four words penciled on the margin of a stay of execution or a petition or citizens.

Lincoln Distinction

The editors estimate the collection covers 99 per cent of all existing Lincoln autograph papers, and that approximately half of them never before have been published.

This meeting marks the beginning of a new time and location for the district sessions. Formerly held the first Monday of the month they are now scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month and will be held alternately in Biglerville and Gettysburg.

Judge W. C. Sheely will be master of ceremonies at next Saturday's Lincoln pilgrimage service at the rostrum in the National Cemetery. The scouts, cubs and explorers will arrive here at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning and disembark on W. Lincoln Ave. From there they will march to the cemetery.

Sen. Martin To Speak
The program at the cemetery will open with the call to colors sounded by a Scout bugler. After massing of the flags of the various troops before the rostrum and the invocation, an explorer and a scout will place a wreath on the Lincoln Speech Memorial.

Judge Sheely will then introduce U. S. Senator Edward Martin, who will give the principal address. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address will be presented by Paul H. Uibel, Ephrata, a Lincoln impersonator. Taps by a Scout bugler and benediction will conclude the service.

Here And There News Collected At Random

In a display advertisement, over the signature of the Retail Merchants Association, appearing in Friday's edition of The Gettysburg Times there is published the following statement:

"A statement by The Retail Merchants Association. Whereby, on October 22nd, a statement appeared in The Gettysburg Times stating that BENN'S would be expelled if they did not close Friday evening is in error."

The above statement is not correct.

The report of the meeting of The Retail Merchants Association was published in the Wednesday evening, October 22 edition of The Gettysburg Times under a two column head in column one on the first page. Every word in that article is true. It is an accurate and impartial report of the proceedings of the retail merchants meeting of the evening before. There was never any question as to the alleged inaccuracy of that report. On the contrary Mr. Harold Reuning, newly elected president of the Retail Merchants Association, on Wednesday of this week told the editor of The Times that the account of the meeting as published in The Times on October 22 was "accurate and in every sense true."

If at any time, as has been the traditional custom and practice of this newspaper, any mistake or error appears in the news columns of The Times it will be corrected at once.

By the same method of reasoning, if any person feels that he is not given fair and impartial treatment in the columns of this newspaper he will be given every opportunity to be heard and if his complaint is justified it will be corrected to his satisfaction as to accurate facts.

LIBRARY SETS NEW MARK FOR CIRCULATION

A new all-time high for circulation in a single month since the library was opened in the fall of 1945 was set in January when book and magazine loans totaled 16,492, topping the January, 1952, mark by more than 3,000.

Commenting on the upswing in circulation, Treasurer L. S. Long said at a library board meeting Friday evening the increase was due in large part to the addition of many new books in recent months. "This new record is all the more remarkable when we remember that a circulation volume never before attained was reached in 1952," he added.

President William M. Lott presided at the board meeting at the main library on E. High St. when library needs and future plans were discussed by the directors. Such projects as erection of a garage and stack room, improvement of the area at the rear of the library building, painting of the exterior of the century-old building, re-decoration of the children's room, the approaching need for a new and larger bookmobile and the placing of new curbing at the front of the library property were listed for the earliest possible attention — as soon as there are funds available.

All Loans Increase

The new high in circulation came both through bookmobile service and in an increase in the number of loans at the main library, the report of the librarian, Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, showed. Loans at the main library topped last January by nearly 500 and bookmobile loans jumped 3,000.

Board members agreed on the need for "from $2,000 to $3,000 each year for new books." The Book Fund currently contains $149.10. Last year new books costing about $1,400 were bought with a $1,000 C. H. Musselman Company donation accounting for most of the funds used.

The bookmobile covered 356 miles last month, Mrs. Wilson reported.

GHS Routs Shippensburg 73-59 To Remain In Tie For Top South Penn Post

Racing off to a 21-9 lead in the first period, the Gettysburg High dribblers laced Shippensburg 73-59 Friday night on the Greyhounds' court to win their second straight contest in the second half race of the South Penn Basketball League. The victory marked the 11th of the campaign for the Warriors against but four setbacks.

John Carter enjoyed one of his best games in a long time as he dropped seven goals and six fouls through for 20 points. All of the Warrior started broke into double figures in the scoring as the Forney-men displayed a well-balanced attack.

A bit of brilliant long shooting on the part of Skip Fisel and George Penn got the locals off to their fast start. Shippensburg never seriously threatening thereafter. During the period Fisel and Penn each landed three goals with Carter adding a pair and Bob Hixon one. Early in the second period Gettysburg built up a 26-9 lead but Shippensburg surged back on four straight goals to cut the margin to 26-17 before Hixon and Carter each tallied from the free throw lane. Seven foul conversions, a pair of goals by Gus Dayhoff and single fielders by Penn and Hixon enabled the Warriors to lead 38-26 at half time. Seven Greyhound players got a goal in the period to keep their team in the running.

Warriors Maintain Pace
Carter, Dayhoff and Hixon bore the brunt of the scoring for the Forney-men in the third period as the Warriors maintained their safe margin. Carter landed a pair of goals and five fouls. Fisel paced the Hounds with three twin-pointers. Going into the final frame the locals led 55-41.

Gettysburg rocketed its lead to 64-46 early in the final frame via goals by Carter, Fisel and Penn. Shippensburg kept pace fairly well but could never threaten and in the closing minutes each of the coaches sent in their entire reserve string.

Jayvees Triumph
The Warrior jayvees made it a clean sweep for the evening through copping the preliminary game 50-33. Coach Sachs' lads outscored their opponents in each period.

Next week the Warriors have two big games on their home court. Waynesboro will be here Tuesday and on Friday the strong Hershey quintet will be met.

DWYER SEEKS FIFTH VICTORY

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Dwyer, the speedy Villanova senior, goes after his fifth straight conquest tonight in the Baxter Mile at the New York Athletic Club games, and, as has become the custom this year, he figures to win as he pleases.

A capacity crowd of 15,000 is expected at Madison Square Garden to watch Dwyer toe the mark against Don Gehrmann, Fred Will, Joe La Pierre and Sweden's Ingvar Ericsson.

If any or all can keep the early pace fairly swift, Dwyer, who has won four straight miles and a 1,000, thinks he might lower the meet record of 4:07.4 held jointly by Chuck Fenske and Leslie MacMittell. That's only two and one-tenth seconds off Gil Dodds' world indoor record.

Mal Whitfield, the Marvelous, will continue his one-man assault on the indoor middle distance records in the Buermeyer 800. This will be his only opportunity to shave George Guida's 56.9 world standard. The New York A. C. is the only major meet with a 500.

In the two-mile, FBI agent Horace Ashenfelter, ex-Penn State, will hook up with Charles Capozzoli, Georgetown's distance ace, and both will shoot for Fred Will's 8:50.7 indoor standard.

Bolling Springs High now needs but one more victory to assure it of at least a tie for first place in the Adams County Scholastic Basketball League.

The Bubbler walloped New Oxford 56-36 Friday night for their 10th straight league decision without a setback. Coach Bud Ecker's charges grabbed a 17-7 lead in the first period and at half time were ahead 36-11 after which they had no worries. Lebo and Burchell accounted for 31 points between them while Spangler landed 10 for New Oxford.

Second-place Biglerville had little difficulty in keeping pace with the Bubbler by routing winless Fairfield 70-18. Terry Lower got back into action after missing a game due to illness and connected or 16 points for the Cannons. Shriner topped Fairfield with five.

A field goal as the final whistle sounded by Jacques Hoffman, East Berlin ace, gave the Indians a thrilling 53-51 decision over York Springs on the latter's floor. York Springs held a slight margin late in the game but Speelman, Cook and Bream went out via personal fouls which proved costly. A pair of foul tosses knotted the score for East Berlin before Hoffman secured his game-winning toss.

Newville built up a 36-19 lead at the end of three periods to survive an 18-point rally by Littletown in the final quarter to gain a 42-37 triumph on the Newville court. Dean Yealy looped 18 counters for the Thunderbolts while Jack Heberling was good for 16 for the winners.

SQUIRES TRIP LANCASTER FOR 4TH STRAIGHT

Delone Catholic High's hustling basketball team made it fourth straight Friday night by defeating Lancaster Catholic 53-43 at McSherrytown for its initial victory in the second half race of the Central Penn Catholic League. A capacity crowd attended.

The Squires took an 11-7 lead in the first period and never lost their advantage although Lancaster drew up to a 32-30 count midway in the third period. At half time Delone led 28-22.

Jos Bevenour led the victors with 15 points while Evans contributed a similar number for Lancaster. Phil Smith of Delone made one of the longest shots ever made on the McSherrytown court when he closed the first period with a goal that traveled approximately three-fourths the length of the floor.

Lancaster's reserves took a thrilling preliminary game 48-46.

Next Tuesday Delone will be host to Mt. Carmel Catholic in another league engagement.

third consecutive shutout last night as the Hornets edged the Providence Reds, 1-0, in the only league game played. It was the ninth straight victory for Pittsburgh, which moved two points ahead of the runner-up Cleveland Barons.

The game, played before a crowd of 4,030, was scoreless until 5:35 of the third period when Andy Barbe broke loose and slipped the puck into the Providence cage from 10 feet out.

The shutout was Mayer's fifth of the season.

MOUNTS TRIM GALLAUDET "5" FOR 10TH WIN

Mt. St. Mary's connected for 25 points in the first period and went on to win an easy 89-47 victory over Gallaudet at Emmitsburg Friday evening for the Mountaineers' 10th victory of the season as against five setbacks.

Today's Talk

WHY NOT PAINT?
One reason why so many people are unhappy is that they do not know what to do with themselves at times, so they get restless, even resentful about themselves. Here is a suggestion: Why not paint? Lots of people are doing it. The idea came to "Grandma Moses" and she did so well at it that she became famous, and inspired others to follow in her footsteps.

Painting is a wonderful recreation, as well. It is Winston Churchill's favorite "pastime," and we are thrilled to note that the new American President — everybody's like — favors this grand rest and relief from his arduous duties. He is apt to neglect his golf exercise now, and in moments of brief leisure turn to his easel! All glory to him!

Painting is both a mental and spiritual stimulant. As equipment all that is essential is some paint and some brushes and a knowledge of the colors of the rainbow, plus the easel, which can be set up anywhere, indoors or out. It is fascinating to watch how colors talk to one another. And, as a training to the eye, so much is learned about perspective, composition and expression. Painting is a creative art. Even as writing, painting challenges the feeling of a person.

Painting has a kinship with nature. Many mornings, on my drive to my office, I view a woman near the road at her easel, painting, and I know she is having a pleasant day and will return to her home at night with the feeling that she has accomplished something worth while, if no more than having expressed herself in a joyful hobby.

There is so much to be learned from painting. You cultivate patience, you begin to notice things you never noticed before. You become observant. You thrill as you get the feeling of a tree, a great rock, a winding road, or a quaint building. The painter is being constantly stirred and challenged as to what color or combination of colors to be used. A painter's best teacher is the one living inside of him or her. Why not paint?

THE RUNAWAY

He thought he could escape life's "daily must."

The press-of-duty and the bonds of trust;

The things love asks and to be loved requires;

The pride of name long cherished by his sires.

No need to praise or scorn henceforth he'd give.

His own life in his own way he would live.

He slipped away to tramp the world about.

Some woman once perhaps had found him out.

And sent him off. To him that one rebuff

To break his spirit had been quite enough.

He chose to beg for coins with outstretched hat

Rather than risk a second hurt like that.

Shame cannot blacken darker any name

When he who wears it has no fear of shame.

Seas harm no more a ship already wrecked.

More can't be lost, when lost is self-respect.

From all good men's esteem he chose to stray,

To live his own life in a sorry way.

News Is Bought Of Fall Of Washington; Drovers Smuggle Beef To British

By CAPTAIN SAMUEL WHITE

(An autobiography of an Adams county man in the campaign of 1814 against the British and Indians in Canada.)

(From Ft. George Captain White and his companions are marched to York (Toronto), where they find they had acted too hastily in accepting parole. White is taken ill and is nursed back to health by a Yankee doctor.)

Eighth Installment

The next day I had a visit from Major Rogers, who seemed alarmed for my safety, and said that he had expected some of my friends had been to see me, and had carried me off. I replied that I believed there was not much danger of my escape, and that I should look well into whose hands I surrendered myself, a prisoner again as I had been one once too often already. He said he would not trust me, and that as soon as my health was sufficiently established to allow of my removal, he would have me carried into the country, so as to be at a distance from the lake.

A few days afterwards he called again, in company with a physician, who having examined me, declared me unfit for removal—the visit was continued from last time, until the doctor at last pronounced me sufficiently strong for removal. During my residence with Mr. Ives, himself and family treated me with the greatest hospitality—had I been a relative, they could not have exerted themselves more for my benefit—they have my highest esteem, and highly deserved recompense, which, had I the power, I would gladly make.

Ordered to Kingston

I was now removed some miles back into the country, where I remained for 10 or 12 days, and was then put on board a boat under the care of Lieutenant Norris, a Canadian militia officer, who had orders from Major Rogers to take me to Kingston. Rogers was himself a militia officer, a devoted monarchist, and in consequence of his zeal, was then, though stationed at home under full pay from his government, being kept there to have an eye to the inhabitants, and prevent them from making their escape to the United States. In many places along Lake Ontario, the inhabitants had deserted their homes and farms, and made their way good to the United States; several were compelled to fly to save their lives, as a single word said against the government, at that time, was sufficient to hang them. Those who were brought prisoners from making their escape to the United States, were, as I afterwards understood, hanged, and some even without judge, jury, or the common formalities of a trial.

The Tyrant, Rogers

Arrived at Kingston, I was handed over to the commanding officer of that post, together with a letter of recommendation from Major Rogers. As soon as he had read the letter, he ordered me into close confinement. This I expected, from having a knowledge of the contents of the letter, given me by an officer under promise of secrecy; he at the time promised me his influence in obtaining my release from confinement. The letter went on to state, "that I was not a commissioned officer of the United States, but had headed a party of depredators, who had come into Canada for the sole purpose of plundering the inhabitants, and therefore to show me no favors." What could have been Major Rogers' inducement to pen such a notoriously manifest falsehood, I cannot divine, unless for the mere gratification of his vile disposition, and the rancorous hatred he bore to everyone who professed republican principles; at home he bore the name of a tyrant, and was generally despised.

I will relate a circumstance which will serve more fully to explain his character. While recovering, and before I had been able to leave my room, he came to see me, and after strutting about for a considerable time, gave me to understand that the United States would shortly be compelled to surrender, as the British troops had taken their capital, Washington. Mr. Ives fearing the effect such information might have upon me in my then reduced state, endeavored to change the conversation by telling the Major how very bad I had been; he interrupted him with the remark: "Oh, that makes no difference, Washington being taken by the British, the United States will of course become subject to them, and he (meaning myself), may as well die now as at any other time, as that will be his fate at all events."

The class in physics for teachers under the direction of Dr. John W. Richards will complete its one hundred hour course on April 13. The class includes: Edgar Benner, John Black, Samuel Ehlman, Richard Folkenroth, Robert Fidler, Elmer Gruver, Fred Haehnen, Rev. Paul Leedy, G. W. Lefever, Paul Meh-ring, Robert Noll, Karl Orndorff, Dale Smith, Dean Stover, Fred Troxell, Robert Troxell, Virginia Troxell, Donald Ulrich.

Veteran Fire Fighters Elect C. Tyson Tipton: C. Tyson Tipton was elected president of the Veteran Firemen's association at the sixth annual dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Battlefield hotel. Forty-one of the 58 members were present. James A. Aumen was elected vice president and S. Richard Eisenhart was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Charles E. Ziegler a member of the first company of Gettysburg, organized in 1885, was present.

Rogers Is Angered

I was irritated, and determined that he should not escape with impunity. I immediately replied that I did not believe one word of his information; he retorted somewhat angrily that it was not only taken, but burnt, and added, even were it not, what chance had we to preserve our country, having a sea coast of nearly three thousand miles, without any fortification; the United States, I replied, have the power to fortify the whole line of coast; and to his enquiry, in what manner they could do it, I answered with men and bayonets. I had the pleasure to see him depart in no very enviable humor.

Through the influence of Lieutenant Norris, I was liberated on the evening of the day I arrived at Kingston, in which place I remained but a few days, and then not having liberty to view the navy yard, and in fact, not being suffered to leave the street in which I boarded, I had no opportunity of seeing any of the curiosities of the place. Between York and Kingston, although a distance of about two hundred miles, I do not recollect having seen one town, either situate on, or in view of the lake.

Supplies From England

I was now put on board a boat, and ordered to Montreal. After we had got some distance below Kingston, perhaps 70 to 80 miles, near the Seven Islands, we met a fleet of boats, one hundred and ten in number, two of which were gun boats, the rest were laden with military stores, cash to pay the troops, and the timbers of a vessel built in England, even to the last pin, and ready to put together, to enable them to maintain their superiority on Lake Ontario.

After the fleet had passed, I intimated to the officer who commanded the boat "was on board of, that I would be much gratified if he would run his boat on the other side of the St. Lawrence, which he could do with as much facility as upon this—his reply was, I understand you, sir, but were the other side of the river equally near, you could not make your escape, as upon the first attempt, I would have you shot—I bantered him by telling him, that if he would agree to run his boat as near the American shore, as he then was to the British, I would execute a bond for five hundred dollars, payable in ten days, in any house in Boston, or New York, that he might mention, and he might fire all the guns on board after me, and kill me if he could; but all would not do, neither bribe nor persuasion could induce him to alter his course.

Guns Unable To Fire

I well knew that the guns had lain in the boat until the powder was so damp that it would have been next to a miracle if one amongst them would go off. It was my fixed determination if I could have got near enough, to have made the shore, to have jumped overboard, and run all risks. Had I been then able to have effected my escape, I would have pressed a horse, and made the best of my way to Sackett's harbor, where I would have given information of the fleet of boats, as the whole of them might have been easily taken, and would have been a valuable prize.

On proceeding a little further, we saw a drove of fat bullocks, consisting of 100 head; which I learned, had been smuggled across from the state of New York, at the Seven Islands. The drovers were met that day by the British commissary, who paid them 20 dollars per hundred, for the beef cattle, all in gold. Upon their return down the river, the drovers put up for the night, at the same tavern where I lodged; and, sometime after supper, I walked into the room where they were seated; there were but two of them, and had the gold spread on the table, in the act of dividing it. I that night obtained information of their real names, for they had passed by fictitious ones; and also learned the name of the town in which one of them resided, and made a memorandum of the whole, with a view to their apprehension, if I could make my escape. I had also viewed them so particularly, that I would have been able to recognize them anywhere; but fortunately for them, I was detained in imprisonment until after the peace.

RUSS SECRET POLICE ARREST FOUR AS SPIES AND LINK U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda reported Friday that state security police have arrested three men and a woman, all Soviet citizens, on charges of spying and alleged that the U. S. intelligence service had especially trained one of the men for espionage.

The Communist party paper identified the four as:

T. A. Sas, "an agent schooled for spying by Americans in Germany."

S. D. Gurevich, a "veteran Trotskyite."

E. A. Taratuta, a woman formerly employed by the Soviet Union's Academy of Sciences.

K. F. Romanov, a former school teacher who once tried to steal from a cartel.

Call For Vigilance

Pravda said all four had passed secrets to foreign governments. Their activities, the paper said, makes it evident "that foreign intelligence services use as agents all kinds of criminals and rotten elements."

The paper called again for intense vigilance against Soviet enemies. It backed its spy charges with this account of what had taken place:

Sas, a Soviet railway worker during World War II, deserted to the Germans and reported to the Gestapo on other Soviet citizens, two of whom were hanged on his testimony.

Joined Trotskyites

After the war, the Americans enlisted him in their service and "after having completed a special school he was sent back by American intelligence into the USSR as a repatriate."

Gurevich established a friendship with Trotskyites while in America from 1914 to 1917.

"After his return to Russia, Gurevich became an active participant and active member of an anti-Soviet Trotskyite group. "As a result of carelessness and the gullibility of certain workers of the institute, Taratuta succeeded in stealing a number of secret documents."

Romanov, who allegedly was caught trying to pass information to a foreign power, was drawn into espionage by his "criminal past."

While working in Vilno as chairman of a "strength" cartel, he "tried to steal a large sum of state money but was exposed and, fearing arrest, fled the city."

Pravda cautioned that thieves are a highly dangerous group since they can be recruited by foreign intelligence services. Among other dangerous elements it listed "fragments of the beaten revolutionary classes," Socialist revolutionaries, Trotskyites and "bourgeois nationalists."

The newspaper listed as a particularly bad element those who have a "psychopathic" urge toward foreign things. In this category, Pravda said, were the nine doctors recently charged with assassination plots against Soviet leaders. The doctors aspired to the bourgeois way of life with all their hearts, Pravda declared.

To Extend Coal Mine Sealing Plan

HARRISBURG (AP)—Mines Secretary William J. Clements said Friday the Commonwealth's coal mine sealing program will be extended to the anthracite region next year. The move, he said, is contingent on approval by the 1953 Legislature of a 1½ million dollar mine sealing appropriation proposed by Gov. John S. Fine in his budget.

"We now have six mine sealing districts," he told a newsman. "The seventh will be established in the anthracite region where the stream pollution problem is also acute."

The 1947 mine sealing law is part of the Commonwealth's clean streams program. Abandoned pits, most of them flooded with acid water, are sealed to prevent seepage of the polluted water into streams.

Charge Husband In "Murder By Request"

HARRISBURG (AP)—A 57-year-old railroad worker, accused of killing his wife at her own request, was formally held for grand jury action Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Wayne Metka.

Irvin C. Uhler, of suburban Oakleigh, charged in the Jan. 17 death of his wife, Cora, pleaded innocent. His wife was found strangled with a 12 foot bandage wound around her neck.

Police testified at the hearing that Uhler had at times told them his wife urged him to make the bandage tighter.

Third Mine Will Be Closed February 14

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The Reliance Mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. will cease operations at nearby Mt. Carmel on Feb. 14.

The mine, employing 250 men, was the third ordered closed by the company in the past month because of decreased sales, Vice President George A. Roos said.

The firm's Mahanoy City and Knickerbocker Collieries at Mahanoy City employing 850, will suspend operations March 1.

BAD WEATHER CURBS WAR TO A STANDSTILL

SEOUL (AP)—The Korean War ground to a virtual standstill Friday as snow and low-hanging clouds covered the war-torn peninsula.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported only light patrol activity.

U. S. Sabre jets were the only Allied warplanes aloft Friday. Pilots reported no contact with Communist MIGs in murky skies over far North Korea.

A U. S. Fifth Air Force spokesman said F4B all-weather jet fighters—with radical radar equipment which guides the plane to its target—chased Communist planes in North Korea Thursday. But the Reds streaked for home without a fight.

First See Flames

The planes are equipped with fantastic radar and electronics devices. These "lock" on target aircraft and guide the jet in unerring pursuit. Guns are aimed and fired automatically.

Almost always the first glimpse the jet crew has of Red aircraft is the trail of flame as it plunges earthward.

The Marine air wing and the Fifth Air Force Thursday took the security wraps off their deadly night fighters. Both services have been using them in combat in North Korea since November.

Woman Killed Going To Prayer Meeting

PALMYRA, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Carrie Ludwig, 68, was walking to a community prayer meeting in this Lebanon County community Wednesday when she was hit and killed by a car.

The driver of the car told police Mrs. Ludwig had jumped in front of the car and he had been unable to avoid hitting her. Coroner John L. Groh found Mrs. Ludwig died of a broken neck and said there would not be an inquest.

NEW YORK (AP)—A three-judge panel of federal judges has ruled that television and radio companies may broadcast giveaway programs, saying that such shows are not lotteries if the participant contributes nothing to the prize fund. The special panel's decision was split, two to one.

Ike Assured Of Getting More Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower seemed assured Friday of getting the same government reorganization powers that ex-President Truman used frequently.

In an about-face, the Senate Government Operations Committee voted Wednesday to accept a House-passed bill giving Eisenhower authority to reshuffle executive agencies and functions.

The measure, to be taken up in the Senate tomorrow, would extend for two years beyond April 1 a law providing that reorganization plans submitted to Congress by the President become effective in 60 days unless vetoed by a constitutional majority in either the Senate or the House.

Bonneauville

BONNEAUVILLE—The NCCW of St. Joseph's parish held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in St. Joseph's hall with the president, Mrs. Evelyn Chrismer, presiding.

Reports from the various committees were read and other routine business disposed of. It was announced that the January meeting would be held here on March 8. After adjournment, refreshments were served and bingo were played. Twenty-two members attended.

The Misses Betty Walker and Anna Sneeringer, Baltimore, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sneeringer, Saturday.

Mrs. Ivan Shanoorok and daughter, Nancy, visited Mr. Shanoorok, who is a patient at the Heart Institute, Norristown, last week.

NATIONALISTS WILL SET UP RAIDS ON REDS

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist Chinese leaders, encouraged by President Eisenhower's decision to denaturalize the Formosa strait, are considering stepped-up operations against the Red mainland.

Most observers here feel that for several months, at least, such operations will be limited to increased amphibious raids from Nationalist island bases off Red China.

Eventually, these observers believe, some kind of understanding will be reached between the U. S. and Nationalist governments on enlarging the scope of hit-and-run warfare.

Chances Vastly Improved

Official quarters consider the chances of successful raids against the mainland have been vastly improved by closer radio liaison with guerrilla units within Communist China.

Future action plans possibly include a blockade of the Chinese Coast from Shanghai southward. Observers feel such a step might provide the scene of new incidents.

An American general today raised hopes that the Nationalist Air Force will be beefed-up with late model U. S. planes.

Maj. Gen. George H. Olmsted of the Army's Foreign Military Air Department, arrived for a two-day visit, including a meeting with Chiang.

"Are we going to get jet planes?" a Chinese spokesman asked Olmsted. "I've got none in my pocket, but there might be some coming," the general replied.

HOME-TOWNERS HONOR TRUMAN

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Harry S. Truman, who spent nearly eight experience-packed years as president, choked with emotion Thursday night at the end of a talk to a home-town audience and said: "There never is and never can be anything like coming back home."

The former President spoke at a family-style homecoming dinner attended by 650 neighbors and friends.

Truman expressed thanks for the warmth with which he had been received since his return.

Until his concluding remark, the ex-President had devoted most of his brief talk to a folksy review of his 30 years in politics and early life in this Western Missouri town of 40,000.

The 68-year-old former President said that on his train trip home last month after turning over the presidency on Jan. 20 to Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower he and Mrs. Truman were surprised at the size and good will of the crowds along the way.

An autopsy Thursday disclosed that the ice pick wound was superficial. A medical examiner said death was due to a heart attack, possibly induced by the stabbing.

Doyle was a $250 a month clerk and messenger in the office of scientist John B. Dunning, dean of engineering at Columbia University and member of the nation's first A-bomb team.

"Nurseryman Of Year" Is Selected

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Albert F. Meehan of Dresher, Montgomery County, a former long-time official of the Pennsylvania Nurserymen's Association, is the "Pennsylvania Nurseryman of the Year."

He was awarded the title Thursday at the closing session of the annual PNA convention for his work on behalf of the organization and industry.

Meehan, who served as secretary treasurer of the PNA for 25 years until 1951, will receive a plaque during the August meeting of the association.

Before adjourning some 100 delegates elected Lewis E. Barr, Lancaster, as president for the coming year. He succeeds Eugene Miller, Norristown, who becomes a member of the board.

Other officers chosen are: A. F. W. Vick Jr., Narberth, first vice president; Jesse F. Flory, Stroudsburg, second vice president; and Wilbur I. Nissley, Harrisburg, secretary-treasurer.

SOLON WANTS BLOCKADE OF "RED CHINA"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo.) called Friday for a full naval blockade of Communist China and said he believed President Eisenhower is considering such a step.

Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander of Pacific Naval Forces, assured the committee in a secret briefing Thursday that a blockade would mean "little chance of war" with Russia.

Radford, long an advocate of China blockade, is in Washington for top-level conferences. Short said he believes the President is "listening to him (Radford)."

Favor U. S. Offensive

Short expressed belief in an interview that Congress would support a blockade order and any other steps by Eisenhower to "take the offensive throughout the world."

He quoted Radford as saying Eisenhower's order to denaturalize Formosa would have little direct effect on the Korean campaign but could be significant as the prelude to other steps.

The admiral advocated a blockade tight enough to halt Russian as well as other deep-sea shipping and smuggling. Short added.

Radford also proposed sending more naval equipment to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. Short reported, but declined to say how far U. S. Naval units should go in supporting any Nationalist attacks on the mainland.

U. S. coal mines have no shafts deeper than 1,000 feet, but in Britain's mines, the average depth is 1,000 feet.

BRITONS MARK FIRST YEAR OF QUEEN'S REIGN

LONDON (AP)—Cannon boomed royal salutes at sunny Hyde Park and London Tower Friday to mark the end of the first year's reign for Queen Elizabeth II.

In many other ways Britons demonstrated their fidelity to 26-year-old Queen. Flags were unfurled, the troops paraded and the press was filled with laudatory references to the young sovereign who is expected to preside over an Elizabethan era of enterprise and adventure.

The Queen didn't hear the salutes. She was at Sandringham, in Norfolk, where her father, King George VI, died one year ago Friday. She was making the most of the final days of a long holiday before her return to London and coronation duties this year.

Receive Communion

The Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, attended a private celebration of Holy Communion, motoring in cold but bright weather from Sandringham House to the little parish church where her father lay in state a year ago.

Of the immediate royal family, only Dowager Queen Mary was in London on the anniversary of King George's death.

The Queen Mother, Elizabeth, and Princess Margaret were at the royal lodge at Windsor, one of the late King's favorite retreats.

The trouble with traffic today is that too many arteries have become hardened.

Take Time For Testing

I suppose in these days of too much hurry and the high cost of everything it is reaching for the moon to expect any busy mechanic to take the wheel of a car he has just serviced and, with the car owner, go out for a spin. But it certainly would go a long way toward improving service work and in helping everyone feel better satisfied. I know some mechanics who still prefer to test their work in their own way at the wheel of the car they have serviced, but usually they do not take time for the testing because owners are in such a hurry. Sometimes owners foolishly imagine the repair man is working in a ride for himself while running up the bill.

One reason why road testing could be so valuable is that it often shows up other things about the car that need attention. It gives the owner a chance to ask questions which he might not think of in the shop. In a test run the mechanic often stops to lift the hood to make helpful minor adjustments.

But there is far too much hurry these days, and everyone seems to be the loser. One of the debits is the fact that if the owner comes back to the shop with a complaint he too often fails to give an accurate picture of what he finds wrong.

Something New In Service

Maybe your repair man has told you about it but, if not, you'll be surprised to learn that the latest time-saver for mechanics is a complete breaker plate which can be installed in the distributor with pre-adjusted breaker points. Spring tension is adjusted to factory specifications, and the contact points are in perfect alignment. There's a new ground lead—a real need in so many cases—and the necessary hardware to complete the installation. The idea should result in better running engines.

Why Pinion Gears Fail

When pinion gears break it is natural to conjure up all sorts of explanations and to overlook five rather simple causes of this sort of breakdown. One that applies especially to this season of year when roads are slippery is strain on the rear end gears as a result of the car running over ice-spotted paving. A rear wheel will suddenly spin and then slow down with a jolt when the tire hits a dry spot again. Another simple one is overloading the car. Erratic clutch action also takes its toll of rear-end gears.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"So much hard shifting is due to binding of the bushings which serve as bearings for the remote shift rods and levers we tend to forget the trouble that can develop in the transmission itself. Often there is need for checking in the synchronizer assembly. It is difficult to describe the action here without resorting to use of diagrams but suffice it to say that

Warren Chevrolet Sales

If the ends of the stop ring spring butt into the side of the clutch gear pressure on the shifter plates is unequal and when the gears are in process of being shifted there is binding. All this can be remedied by bending the stop ring spring ends."

Maybe Something Simple

Rear wheels noisy? Well, there are a lot of possibilities here, and whenever there's anything on this order it is important to start checking even if one of the wheels is merely a little loose on its axle shaft. Perhaps the wheel nuts are loose or there may be a defective wheel bearing. Sometimes noise is due to excessive axle shaft end-play, or to a scored wheel bearing cup or cone. Insufficient lubrication turns up in many cases as the seat of this sort of thing, proving once again that sometimes the simplest things puzzle us the most.

Order Them By Number

With so many different lights on the modern cars (some have nearly 30 of them) it is helpful to know that there are code numbers for different size and type light bulbs. This makes it simpler when looking for replacements. These numbers are used even for competing makes of lamps. Those miniatures for the instrument panel, for instance, usually are No. 55. Parking lights are No. 1154. Stop lights and rear lights also are No. 1154. Headlamps are 4030.

Tops In Anti-Skid

In the middle of the skidding season everyone will be interested in the anti-skid system that is attracting so much attention. I have never seen anything to match it. Some old timers I have discussed it with say that it is a large part of the answer to skidding and that I ought to talk more about it in this column. Of course, many readers will be disappointed to learn that it isn't anything you have to go out and buy. In fact, no changes are needed in the car.

You May Have Guessed That I am speaking of going easy on the accelerator pedal. This rule was never more timely because never before have so many stock cars had such powerful motors and terrific torque through their transmissions. Far too many current skids are simply failure of the rear tires to get traction when under power.

Why It May Vibrate

If you are still among those using a mechanical clutch in the car perhaps you may wonder some day why the thing takes to vibrating. There are various reasons. Loose engine mounts should be the first thing to check. Worn universal joints next. Then dig into the clutch itself for such conditions as improper balance of the clutch assembly, off center springs, a loose flywheel, a worn transmission main shaft rear bearing, incorrect fit of the pressure plate and lack of proper alignment.

Useful In Starting

A lot of starting trouble could be avoided in cold weather by the simple process of taking advantage of downgrades for cranking the motor. In more cases than we realize there's enough of a grade to get the car rolling. Unless the engine is stone cold comparatively little momentum is needed for the job. Put the gears in high, and when the car is rolling about five miles an hour let the clutch pedal up. Incidentally, when being pushed for a start, and where the car has an automatic transmission or simple fluid drive, set the selector lever in the "Drive" position (or shift to high with a simple fluid drive) and switch on the ignition when the car is rolling between 15 and 20 miles per hour. Do not have your car towed for a start because when the engine starts it may suddenly overtake the car doing the towing.

In The Motor Mail

Q. My car has a very low top speed which I have proved by trying to drive over 35 mph in second. A friend says it is water in the gasoline. L. L. M.

A. Water would show up at all speeds. I would first check to see if the spring of the breaker arm is weak.

Q. Is it ever necessary to take any precautions against cylinder head gasket leakage other than to use fresh anti-freeze each winter and to keep the cooling system clean? Wm. F. Jr.

A. Tension of the cylinder head nuts should be checked when the car is in the shop. These nuts may loosen. Mechanics use a torque wrench for this job, for accuracy.

Q. Does a 12-volt battery have the same number of cells as a conventional 6-volt? J. J. G.

A. There are six cells for the 12-volt battery.

For some reason or other I have to take up on the clutch adjustment more than should be necessary. I have done this four times within the year and now have reached the limit of adjustment. What next? R. F. F.

A. Probably a clutch job! You have been taking up the free play which must be maintained at about one inch of pedal travel in order to prevent excessive clutch wear. There is no external adjustment for the clutch proper.

Q. There seems to be excessive binding in the steering linkage. The steering gear itself is well lubricated and its housing isn't loose. I keep the tires at recommended pressures. Their treads are ribbed and should present no resistance to pivoting. Alignment has been checked and shows no abnormalities. E. McB.

A. There is a good chance that the binding is in the linkage, as you suspect. I would have your mechanic disconnect the outer ends of the rods. With this done he can more easily locate the points of binding.

Q. Checking specifications of 1953 cars I note the term "sprayed" used with reference to rear springs. What does this mean? L. S. S.

A. Webster defines "sprayed" as meaning "extended or 'slanted.'" As we find this arrangement on one of the 1953 cars the front end of each rear leaf spring is supported by a hanger on the side of the frame toward the drive line. But the rear of each spring is shackled under the frame. Thus the springs are not parallel with the frame. There are several advantages to this arrangement, especially when cornering on curves.

Q. What can be done with a squealing fan belt? Have tried all the tricks without result. This occurs not only when the engine is cold but also at various other times, especially when the engine is idling in traffic. T. McM.

A. Why don't you try a new belt? Let me know if this doesn't do the trick.

FORCED TO RETIRE
At the same time, the Association's own operating books also were in the red. The reserve fund was exhausted; the regular annual income from membership fees, insufficient to balance outgo. In such a situation, the directors voted to discontinue activities at the end of 1952. It was an action taken with regret, "alleviated by the realization that we retire at the time of our greatest accomplishment."

And so an organization which contributed much to

STATE DEPT.'S HUMELSINE NEW PROBE TARGET

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today marked Carlisle Humelsine, deputy under secretary of state, for questioning in a spreading investigation of the State Department.

Humelsine is the man in ultimate charge of the department's security operations and its massive collection of secret files — from which witnesses have sworn that documents have mysteriously disappeared.

In three days of public hearings the special investigations subcommittee which McCarthy heads has received testimony that a special agent's report on a suspected Communist and some reports on employees with "unusual morals" are missing from personnel files. It also heard that a derogatory letter about an employee was ordered burned by some never-named high official.

May Call Acheson

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), a member of the subcommittee, announced he will "ask that Dean Acheson himself be called if Humelsine testifies that he acted under orders in

Senate Completes Okays On Appointees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate now has completed approval of President Eisenhower's first squad of top-level appointees to guide the nation's foreign policy.

Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as under secretary of state, No. 2 man in the department, and James B. Conant as high commissioner to West Germany won approval on voice votes last night.

Previously confirmed were John Foster Dulles as secretary of state; Harold E. Stassen as mutual security director; Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as permanent representative to the United Nations; and Thurston B. Morton and Carl McCord as assistant secretaries of state.

Conant's nomination brought a minor flurry of floor opposition last night but only two or three senators voted "no."

not correcting this appalling situation."

Acheson, former secretary of state, has been a frequent target for criticism by both McCarthy and Mundt. McCarthy set no date for hearing Humelsine.

The subcommittee's inquiry is in recess until Feb. 16.

On a clear night about 6,000 stars are visible to the unaided eye.

ADMINISTRATION STANDS PAT ON FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration stood pat today against Democratic demands for a public accounting of how much, if at all, the U. S. will back up any Nationalist raids on Red China.

But GOP leaders promised Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee confidential answers to some of their questions when Secretary of State Dulles returns from Europe.

Administration supporters lined up solidly behind Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) who told the Senate yesterday that it would be "the height of folly" for the U. S. to tip its hand now on Far Eastern moves.

Not To Trip Hand

Knowland, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, rejected a demand by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) that President Eisenhower tell the country what steps and consequences may follow his order lifting Seventh Fleet restrictions against mainland raids by the Nationalists.

Knowland asserted: "The policy of the old administration was to signal in advance to the Soviet Union and the Chinese Communists what our plans were."

Honeymoon's Over

The men in the Kremlin and in Peking would give their eye-teeth to know what their requirements will be. But I would like to see the Communist world sit on the anxious seat for a while."

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said Dulles had promised to detail the administration's Asiatic plans to a foreign relations far Eastern subcommittee on his return from Europe.

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, apparently signaled a break in the new administration's foreign policy honeymoon with Congress when he fired sharp questions at the GOP leadership about the fleet order.

Sparkman complained, although Eisenhower promised a bipartisan foreign policy, the President had not consulted Democrats on "development" of the decision to de-naturalize Formosa.

In his State of the Union message last Monday, Eisenhower said he would no longer require the U. S. Seventh Fleet to "shield" the Red-held China mainland from attacks by Nationalists on Formosa.

Sparkman demanded: "Is this the first step toward involving United States forces on the mainland in China? Is it the first step toward more casualties, instead of less? Is it the first step toward global war?"

Uncle Sam Does Arithmetic For Taxpayers Using 1040-A

(This is the third of Six articles on How to Make Out Your Federal Income Tax Return.)

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts will do the bulk of your income tax arithmetic for you if you are eligible to use Form 1040-A.

This single sheet, amber colored optional tax return form contains a list of simple questions such as your name, address, employer, number of dependents and wages. You answer the questions and the bureau of Internal Revenue will figure out your tax, sending you a bill for any amount not covered by withholding, or a refund, as the case may be.

Strict rules govern who may use this form, however.

You may use a 1040-A if your total income was less than $5,000 and consisted entirely of wages subject to withholding, or of such wages and not more than $100 total of other wages, dividends and interest.

When To Use Long Form

But you will have to use the more complicated Form 1040 return if you had any income from other sources, such as rents, annuities, royalties or a business; or if you claim status as the head of a household.

In reckoning your tax, the revenue bureau uses a table which takes account of your exemptions ($600 each) and allows about 10 percent of your total income as a deduction in place of charitable contributions, taxes, interest, extraordinary medical expenses, etc. If your deductions run more than 10 percent of your income, it will pay you to use long-form 1040 and itemize them.

If you are buying a home, and the interest payments on your mortgage run high, it may pay you to itemize them and other allowable deductions on the long-form. It is impossible to do so on form 1040-A or on 1040 when used as a short-form. The same holds good if you sustain a big loss from fire, flood, or theft, or have large medical expenses.

Choosing Your Form

There are a couple of other reasons why you may find it desirable to use form 1040 in place of 1040-A.

You may have received reimbursements out-of-town travel expenses, which your employer reported as part of your income. Your aren't required to pay taxes on an expense account, so you take this deduction on 1040, using either a long-form (four pages) or short-form (single sheet).

Or, it may be that you want to know right away the amount of your refund or tax due, without waiting for the revenue director's office to figure it. In this case, short-form 1040 is your choice.

When you use short-form 1040.

"A Scout is Reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

During Boy Scout Week, Scouts and leaders will express their appreciation to the organizations and institutions whose sponsorship makes possible their Units' existence. These include the religious bodies which account for almost half of the nation's Scouting Units, the national or state civic groups, school organizations and local civic groups.

In its latest report to Congress the Boy Scouts of America said that 88,934 institutions are sponsors for the nation's Scouting Units. Of this number 18,739 operate two or more Scout programs such as Cub Scouting for boys 8 and 10 years of age, Boy Scouting for boys 11 through 13 and Exploring for those 14 years and upward.

The Whole Scout Family, all three programs, are sponsored by 3,446 institutions, making it possible for a boy to enjoy the three Scouting programs under the same sponsorship for a ten year span, from age eight to eighteen.

Traditionally on Feb. 8, Scouts and Leaders recommit themselves to the Scout Oath or Promise at 8:15 p.m., in the four time zones. These ceremonies will take place, in some instances, at Scout family birthday dinners, while some Cub Dens, Boy Scout Patrols and Explorer Crews will meet in homes of members. Others will meet with their parents Sunday evening in churches or synagogues.

At these Boy Scout Week celebrations many Units will review its program highlights and the successes of its first year in the Three Year Program. Its camping and other outdoor activities and its planning for participation at the Third National Jamboree which is expected to attract 50,000 Scouts and Leaders for a week of camping together at Irvine Ranch in southern California next July 17 to 23.

TUGBOAT STRIKE EASES GRIP ON NEW YORK PORT

NEW YORK (AP) — The tugboat strike relaxed its grip on the world's largest port today amid signs strikers and employers were approaching agreement without need of government proposed arbitration.

Representatives of both sides in the wage dispute said last night in separate statements that progress was being made in negotiations scheduled to continue this afternoon.

The improved prospects of a settlement in the wage and contract dispute came as the Federal Mediation Service in Washington asked that the crippling strike, in its seventh day, be called off pending arbitration.

Delay Picketing

However, the government suggestion was put aside, at least temporarily, as a result of employer objections. The union, while expressing misgivings, had accepted the federal proposal.

Involved in the dispute are 3,500 tugboat crewmen, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, and their employers, grouped in the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Association.

Signs pointing to a possible agreement were not only reflected in the failure of the government arbitration plea but also in an ILA statement last night that settlement was near enough to permit the postponement of picketing.

Urges Mediation

There were reports that ILA officials also considered posting of pickets futile since the National Labor Relations Board's New York office announced last night that it was ready to seek a Federal Court injunction to bar picketing under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Picket lines of the tugboat men on Thursday had resulted in a tieup of 75 per cent of the Port of New York as non-striking AFL longshoremen refused to cross the lines.

Yesterday David L. Cole, director of the Federal Mediation Service, asked the union to end the strike and submit the dispute to a fact-finding board.

Cole said the board would be a special body established by the mediation service and would "make recommendations for an equitable solution."

He said continuation of the strike here, and similar walkouts affecting shipping in Albany, N. Y., Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va., "will seriously affect essential public and general services." Cole said the government was "urgently requesting" the end of the walkouts.

ILA tugboat men in the other ports are carrying on negotiations separate from those being conducted here.

There was no immediate indication what stand would be taken by the disputants outside of New York. But a union spokesman here said he expected New York developments to set the lead.

James P. McAllister, president of the employers' association here, wired the mediation service in Washington last night that both sides had made concessions and that talks were at a "delicate stage."

Ike's Streamlining Power Is Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower had a congressional vote of confidence today in the form of broad powers to carry out his promised streamlining of government.

With a shout of approval, the Senate late yesterday approved a two-year extension to April 1, 1955, of the exact government-revamping powers held by ex-President Truman. The bill, approved earlier this week by the House, goes now to Eisenhower's desk for signature.
